TRAINING BACKGROUND

- The Executive Exposure Visit Program 2025 is designed to give Nepalese banking leaders direct access to best practices from Indonesia's leading financial institutions. Over the past decades, Indonesia has successfully transformed its banking sector in critical areas such as regulatory frameworks, risk management, SME financing, Islamic banking governance, leadership culture, and housing finance.
- Participants will visit some of the largest and most influential institutions in Indonesia, including OJK, Bank Mandiri, BNI, BSI, BCA, and BTN. Each institution contributes a distinctive strength—ranging from regulatory supervision and Basel III adoption to SME inclusion, Islamic finance, leadership resilience, and mortgage innovation. The insights gained from these visits will be highly relevant and adaptable to the ongoing development of Nepal's financial sector.
- This program has been carefully structured to balance technical learning sessions with cultural immersion, enabling participants not only to benchmark international best practices but also to experience the unique business and cultural context of Indonesia. By engaging directly with regulators, practitioners, and industry leaders, participants will acquire actionable insights that can be adapted to Nepal's banking sector, particularly in the areas of policy development, risk management, financial inclusion, Islamic finance, leadership, and housing finance.
- We are confident that this exposure visit will provide valuable perspectives, practical knowledge, and lasting professional connections that will significantly contribute to the ongoing transformation of Nepal's financial industry.

Objective

This program is expected to provide participants with knowledge, best practices, and practical insights on the transformation of Indonesia's banking sector, with particular focus on:

- Regulatory and Supervisory Policies
- Economic Outlook 2024 & Financial Inclusion
- AI in Risk Management & Basel III Practices
- Digital Transformation in Mortgage Banking

Through this program, Nepalese banking leaders will gain practical insights and valuable networks to strengthen Nepal's financial system, particularly in policy, risk management, economic outlook 2024 & financial inclusion and digital transformation in mortgage banking.
